

*New Aged Care
Quality Standards
Our support program will get you over the line in July 2019*

Our ACQS Provider Support Package will give you confidence

On the 1st of July 2019, quality and compliance in aged care will look very different. Ideally by now you have completed your gap analysis and have implemented a program to transition your policies and procedures, organised your training and developed new reporting frameworks. If this is not your experience then you may find yourself paying a heavy price in the months after July this year.

At Pride Living we understand that transition often brings uncertainty. Our team of experts, is here to help alleviate uncertainty and not to give you confidence as you work through your transition plan.

A tailored package to support you during the transition to the ACQS

Adapting to the new standards is a process and our ACQS Support Package will provide you with the tools to confidently embrace the new standards. Our package is a subscription program which runs to the end of September 2019.

Every Provider will have their own needs, to complement our ACQS Support Package, we provide:

EDUCATION WORKSHOPS

The delivery of education is a vital element of the transition process. We work with you to identify the gaps in knowledge and skills to prepare your stakeholders for their role in the delivery of care under the new standards.

INTERNAL REVIEWS

Our independent assessment on the effectiveness of your transition plan identifies the gaps and risks in your quality management systems to ensure you are able to priorities areas for improvement and be confident for accreditation.

WE HELP YOU MAKE DECISIONS WITH CONFIDENCE.

Why work with Pride Living?

Pride Living consultants work with hundreds of providers with many different levels of services. Therefore, we bring a breadth of knowledge about what works in different settings offering our providers the right size engagement for them.
